Dear Sirs:

THE ELECTRIC BLANKETS YOU MAKE ARE A WONDERFUL CREATION

I wish to convey my sincere and heartfelt thanks and gratitude to you at having made available to a common man the wonderful device called Electric Blanket.

I had undergone a heart bypass surgery in 1995. Thereafter, I have felt a little weak consistently. More particularly, the extreme cold conditions that north India sees in winters had been rather hard to go through.

Then when I accidentally came across an electric blanket produced by you, I was quite cynical whether this would not be one of those impractical ideas that one comes across in the market that are primarily designed to extract a couple of thousand rupees from the prospective customers by promising moon but actually deliver nothing practically worthwhile.

After using this product for a few days in the winters, I realised how wrong I was.

Here was a product that provides the correct amount of warmth to the body in an admirably focussed manner and the nights that were a sleepless nightmare have changed to wonderful experience. Now I wake up totally rested and relaxed in the mornings in winters.

I wish Medico a grand a grand success and hope that you would continue to serve the society with your wonderful and practical inventions like the Electric Blanket.

With best wishes,

Yours truly,

B. N. KHURANA
